HEALTH

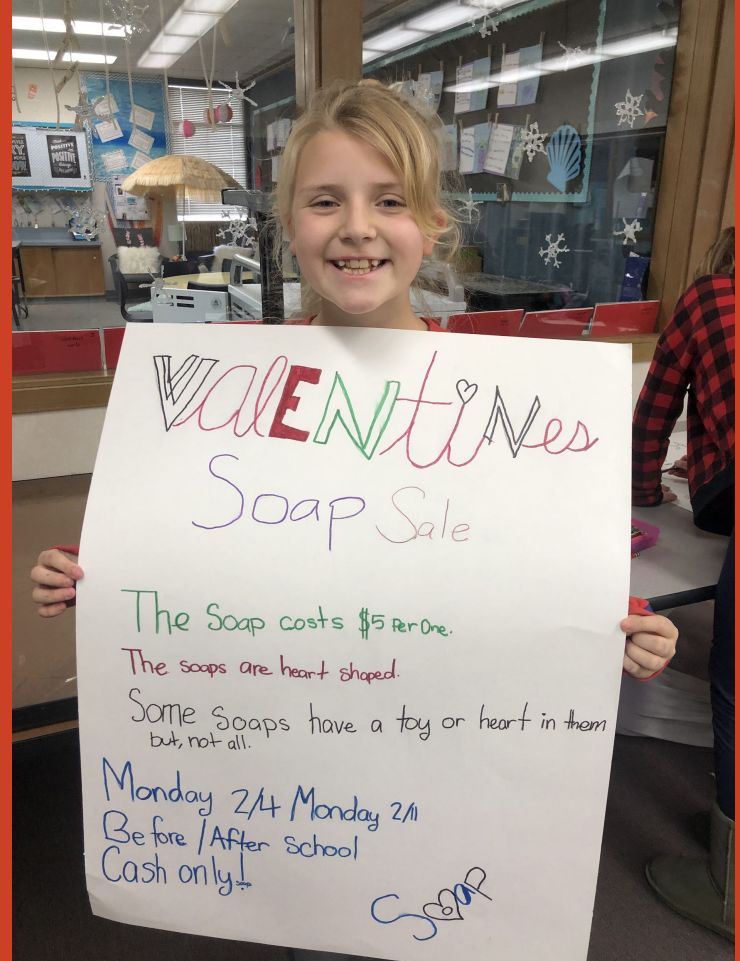

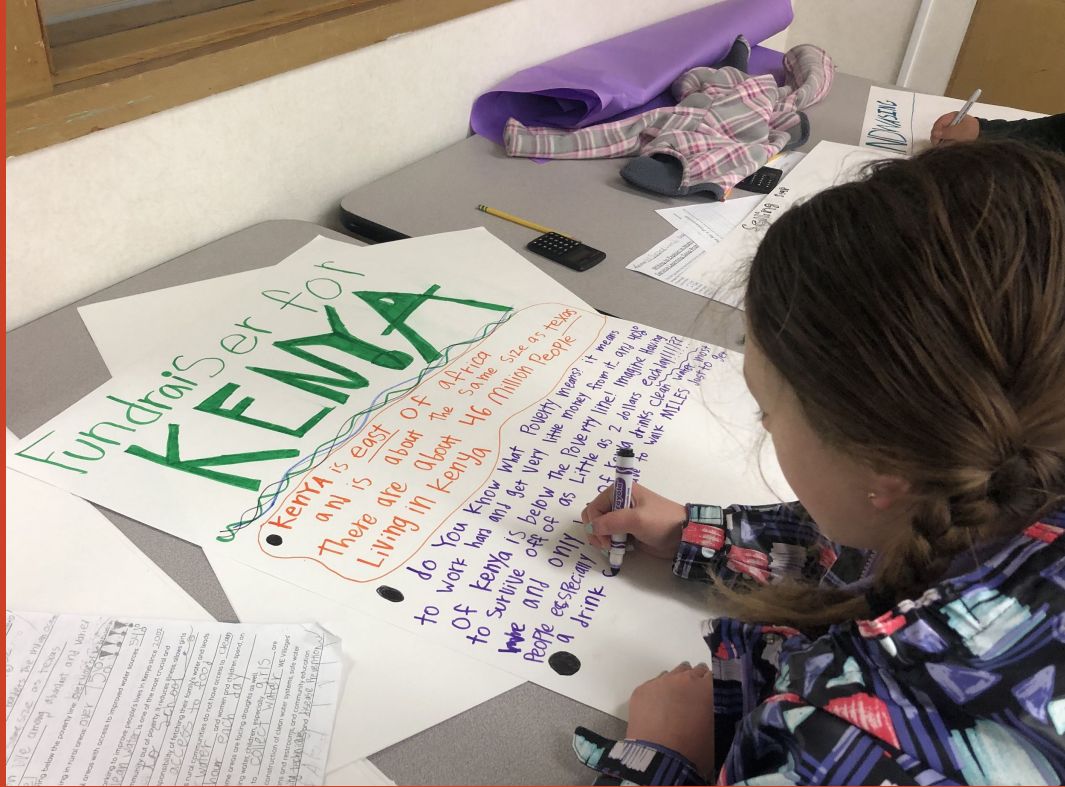

A close-up photograph of two hands being washed under a running faucet. The hands are covered in thick, white, bubbly soap foam. Water is streaming from the faucet on the left, creating a dynamic splash. The background is a light-colored, wet surface, likely a sink, with numerous water droplets visible. The overall scene conveys a sense of cleanliness and hygiene.

“Handwashing for Good Health”

To thank you for your $5 donation, please enjoy this HAND SOAP (not recommended for face/body)! Your donation will help provide clean, running water for people in Kenya through an organization called WE.org. Did you know that nearly 40% of Kenyans lack access to safe water? The money we donate will be used to help Kenyans build rain catchment systems and wells, among other projects.
